WAR NOTICE

Young Practitioners

The Central Medical War Committee has decided to deal centrally with the recruitment of R practitioners holding house appointments in voluntary and municipal hospitals —other than those in the senior establishments of such hospitals.

Steps have been taken to obtain from all voluntary and municipal hospitals in England and Wales statements of their peacetime establishments and their estimated wartime establishments in terms of house officers. The following definitions are employed:

1. An R practitioner is a practitioner who has registered under the National Service (Armed Forces) Act, 1939.

2. A posts are those whole-time resident house appointments at voluntary and municipal hospitals which are or can be occupied by practitioners without previous experience.

3. B posts are those whole-time posts, usually but not always resident, which cannot be occupied by practitioners without previous experience—that is, senior house-surgeons and physicians, casualty officers, resident surgical and medical officers, registrars and other officers intermediate between the junior house officer and the member of the visiting staff, or, in the case of the municipal hospital, intermediate between the junior house officer, if any, and the medical superintendent.

4. Some B posts are part of the hospital senior establishment. At voluntary hospitals such senior posts are typically those of resident surgical officer, resident medical officer, registrar, chief assistant.

At the municipal hospital the senior establishment is comprised of those B appointments with a tenure of more than one year, and carrying with them a salary of £350 a year with emoluments, or more. These senior B posts are called Bi posts.

The hospitals of the country have been asked to state their establishments in terms of A posts and B posts; these establishments are being passed to Local Medical War Committees or, in the case of London, to the Committee of Reference for consideration. All holders of A and B posts, except those B posts which are within the senior establishment—the Bi posts—will be dealt with by the Central Medical War Committee. The holders of Bi posts will be dealt with by the Local Medical War Committee or the Committee of Reference in the first instance.

In future, as a man qualifies he will fall to be dealt with centrally until he, not having been recruited by the Central Committee, undertakes work in a local area or obtains a post on the senior establishment of a voluntary or municipal hospital.

CENTRAL MEDICAL WAR COMMITTEE,
B.M.A. House, Tavistock Square, W.C.1.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS

The need for strict economy in the use of paper for all purposes was emphasized by the Control of Paper Order made by the Ministry of Supply, which came into force last month. In view of the restrictions now imposed on the use of paper, and the increase in the rates of postage which came into operation on May 1, it will no longer be possible to acknowledge the receipt of letters and memoranda, etc., offered to the British Medical Journal for publication. The space devoted to correspondence has had to be curtailed, and readers are urged once again to be concise in all communications addressed to the Editor.

RESOLUTIONS BY DIVISIONS AND BRANCHES FOR THE REPRESENTATIVE BODY

Correction

The Motion by Dover and Folkestone published in last week's Supplement at page 81 was printed in error. The motion was not adopted by the Division.

TREATMENT OF ARMY PERSONNEL BY CIVILIAN DOCTORS

It has been stated on behalf of the War Office that Forms O.1667 are being received by commanding officers from civilian doctors in respect of soldiers who are home on leave and reside within two miles of a military hospital. It should be noted that a member of the Defence Forces home on leave may apply to a civilian doctor for treatment only if he resides more than two miles from the nearest naval, military, or air force hospital. Civilian doctors who treat men residing within the two-mile radius will find that the accounts they submit on Form O.1667 will be returned by command paymasters as inadmissible.

REPAIRS TO WAR-DAMAGED HOSPITALS

A circular (No. 2021) on the subject of repairs to war-damaged hospital buildings has been issued by the Ministry of Health. All authorities of hospitals coming under the emergency scheme are entitled, if the hospital is damaged by enemy action, to take advantage of the provisions of the Essential Buildings and Plant (Repair of War Damage) Act, 1939, which enables loans to be made by the Government under certain conditions. The first of these conditions—that the building is essential to the civil population—will be regarded as satisfied in any Class 1 or Class 2 hospital, whether it is for the time being reserving casualty accommodation or not, and in any mental hospital or mental deficiency institution in which casualty beds are or can be made available.

When the money is lent no demand for repayment of capital or payment of interest will normally be made during the war, and after the war the charge will be linked up with the Government compensation scheme. But the procedure of applying for financial assistance may take a little time, and therefore authorities should so far as possible undertake to carry out immediate "first-aid" repairs themselves. If, apart from "first aid," essential repairs are required which the authority is unable to put in hand without assistance, its proper course, in the case of a local authority, is to apply to the Ministry for a loan, and for a voluntary hospital to apply to the housing authority for the work to be done by that authority, or alternatively for a loan whereby the hospital could do the work itself. If there is difficulty in obtaining immediate assistance from the housing authority the hospital may apply direct to the Ministry for assistance. It is also pointed out that it may be necessary, pending reconstruction of a damaged part of the hospital, for essential services such as the theatre to be transferred to an undamaged part, and in that case the hospital should do whatever work is essential, and a contribution will subsequently be made to the cost of such work. In the case of a voluntary hospital the whole cost will be met by the Department; in the case of a municipal hospital the contribution will be in accordance with Section 53 of the Civil Defence Act. As for buildings taken over by the Ministry, any necessary repairs will be carried out by and at the cost of the Government, but here again it may be necessary that the authority administering the hospital should put in hand immediately any essential repairs for the welfare of patients and the continuance of the service.

Detailed suggestions as to the lines on which hostels for evacuated school children should be planned by receiving authorities, under the extended powers announced in the Ministry's circular (No. 2017) of May 13, are contained in a memorandum (Memo EV.9) issued by the Minister of Health. The memorandum stresses the importance of proper staffing and supervision, and suggests that a local authority setting up a hostel should appoint a small visiting committee to inspect it at intervals. The memorandum indicates in detail the lines upon which local authorities are to proceed in selecting the children to be accommodated, premises, equipment, and domestic arrangements and staff. The importance of choosing experienced and suitable persons for work in the hostels, and above all for the post of warden, is emphasized. It is pointed out that provision must be made not merely for the board and lodging of the children but for an orderly and regular life, with the organization of their leisure as well as their school work.

Correspondence

Conscription of the Medical Profession

SIR,—Despite the strict limitation of space for correspondence I feel that the letter on page 82 of the Supplement of May 18 calls for comment from one who has been through it all once and even volunteered again—without success. Briefly:

1. Medicine should not be a "business venture"; it is supposed to be a profession. If not, why not?

2. Unfortunately, most practice has passed under the control of insurance companies, and the poor man is handicapped unless he can borrow. German colleagues have been amazed at this buying and selling of "panels"; they are not allowed to settle where there are no demands for their services.

3. During the last war men of the public health services usually had the difference between civilian and Army pay "made up" for them. Others had to start again, poorer.

4. There is obviously something wrong when one man has to pay out £925 before he has a profit! (See correspondence.)

5. My conclusion is that the bulk of the profession would have been far "better off" if there had been some form of National Medical Service. Financial worry would seem the lot of many. For what it is worth they have my sympathy, certainly not my sneers.—I am, etc.,

May 19. W. WILSON.

Medical Conscription at All Ages

SIR,—I would submit for your urgent consideration that the medical profession should immediately abandon the present system of volunteers and arrange that conscription be applied to whatever age may be necessary to fill the needs of the Services.

My personal position must be a common experience, but it is worth recording. I am 47 years of age with two children at school. I have no resources. I served in the last war and was severely wounded. I believe it is my duty to serve again, and I have taken the necessary steps. I am not, however, blind to the fact that none of my immediate competitors has taken the same step. They are mostly younger than I, and fitter; by some inscrutable fortune they escaped the last war too. I leave my living, trusting to the Protection of Practices Scheme but realizing the slender protection that will really afford, knowing that the years will increase my disabilities and that I shall return to warm myself before the ashes of a dead practice.

It is my conviction that conscription would tend to equalize sacrifice and would give us all a fair start when we have won this war. The present system places very unfair loads upon the willing horses.—I am, etc.,

London, May 14. M.R.C.S.

B.M.A.: Meetings of Branches and Divisions

DELHI BRANCH

The annual meeting of the Delhi Branch was held at New Delhi on March 27, with Lieutenant-Colonel R. F. D. MACGREGOR, M.C., I.M.S., in the chair.

The following officers were elected:

President, Lieutenant-Colonel M. M. Cruickshank, I.M.S. Vice-President, Dr. Albert Batty. Secretary and Treasurer, Dr. S. N. Mitter.

Sir SHAH MUHAMMAD SULAIMAN, Judge of the Federal Court of India and Vice-Chancellor of the Aligarh Muslim University, gave an address entitled "The Medico-Legal Conflict." He discussed the nature of medical evidence as experienced by a judge. The law had not kept pace with the advances in medicine, particularly with regard to insanity, where, he thought, an amendment of the law was necessary. Though his sympathies were with the doctors on this matter, judges had to administer the law as they found it and not as they wished it to be. In conclusion he begged his audience to consider the indigenous systems of medicine, which had a very rich materia medica, and hoped that the medical profession would rise above any narrow conservatism and find a mean to combine the good points of Eastern and Western medicine.

DORSET AND WEST HANTS BRANCH: BOURNEMOUTH DIVISION

The annual meeting of the Bournemouth Division was held at Boscombe Hospital on April 24, with Mr. S. GORDON LUKER in the chair, and after routine matters had been dealt with Mr. ROSS SMITH spoke on "Recent Advances in Orthopaedic and Neurological Surgery," the talk being accompanied by lantern slides. After the address questions were asked by Drs. BUCKLEY and DIXON GREEN, and a very hearty vote of thanks was moved from the chair to Mr. Ross Smith for his interesting address, which was accorded with acclamation.

LINCOLNSHIRE BRANCH: LINCOLN DIVISION

A general meeting of the Lincoln Division was held at Lincoln County Hospital on March 19, with Dr. GEORGE ARMOUR in the chair.

Dr. C. A. H. FRANKLYN opened a discussion on the difficulty of obtaining tuberculin-tested milk, and Dr. M. L. BERY replied. This was followed by a general discussion on the apparent waste of medical man-power in the Services, and the following motion was then proposed by Dr. FRANKLYN and seconded by Dr. SMITH: "That this Division views with alarm the number of medical practitioners available for service to the general public and the numbers provided for the fighting Forces. It is of opinion that the Services should not be lavishly equipped with doctors out of all proportion to their requirements at the expense of the civil population, particularly in view of the possibility of air raids in the near future." The motion was carried unanimously.

NORTH OF ENGLAND BRANCH: NORTH NORTHUMBERLAND DIVISION

The annual general meeting of the North Northumberland Division was held at Belford on March 31, and was followed by a meeting to which all practitioners in the area of the Division were summoned for the election of the Local Medical War Committee. The following officers of the Division were elected:

Chairman, Dr. H. F. Park. Vice-Chairman, Dr. J. A. Smail. Honorary Secretary and Treasurer and Representative in Representative Body, Dr. D. T. McDonald. Deputy Representative in Representative Body, Dr. R. A. Welsh.

The meeting resolved to resume Divisional meetings in a modified way, and decided to hold three scientific meetings during the summer, at which subjects of general medical and surgical interest would be discussed. The secretary was instructed to get in touch with suitable speakers.

SUSSEX BRANCH: WEST SUSSEX DIVISION

At a meeting of the West Sussex Division, held at Worthing on March 21, with Dr. C. GIBSON in the chair, Dr. J. R. REES gave an address on "The Emotional Difficulties of Childhood and Adolescence." After supper there was a long and lively discussion chiefly on nocturnal enuresis. A vote of thanks to Dr. Rees was proposed by Professor MILLAIS CULPIN and seconded by Dr. H. G. MCGREGOR.

A meeting of the West Sussex Division was held at Worthing on April 17, with Dr. CHARLES GIBSON in the chair. Dr. F. G. CHANDLER gave an address on "Emphysema and its Treatment," after which an interesting discussion took place. A vote of thanks to Dr. Chandler for his address was proposed by Dr. BROADBENT and seconded by Dr. HUTCHINSON.
